DID MR. HEWITT COERCE MR. HILL? AN EXTRAORDINARY STORY FROM RESPONSIBLE SOURCES-THE GOVERNOR SAID TO HAVE BEEN PORCED BY A SHARP LETTER TO RECOMMEND THE AQUEDUCT

REORGANIZATION. Sir: There was a modicum of truth in the story told in "The Times" a few days ago, about the letter of Mayor Hewitt to Governor Hill, relative to the Aqueduct Commission, but it was so far from being the whole truth, and contained some statements that were so palpably untrue, that the Mayor's denial of the story has been taken by many as a denial of the fact that he wrote the Governor at all, or that he had any communication with him relative to the last Aqueduct gislation. A careful and exhaustive inquiry made Governor Hill probably made the greatest mistake of his life in calling the extra session of the legislat-ure, as future disclosures will demonstrate. About the time the Legislature convened, Mayor Hewitt. seeing his opportunity, wrote the Governor an official York, was commented upon by Democrats on the train.

Surprised at not seeing the letter of the Mayor in point the morning after its receipt, he saw a way of breaking his fall and helping himself; so his secretary, the Mayor. The Mayor was at his home in Ringwood, N. J., and there Colonel Rice found him. He said that he came from the Governor to ask if the letter could not be recalled, because it was so entirely unlike any other letter ever written by a Mayor to a Governor that it ought not to be permitted to remain on the records; and that, if it could be recalled, the Mayor to a four at this time is very small. It will not average much over five cents. It is only a short time average much over five cents. It is only a short time average much over five cents. the Mayor. The Mayor was at his home in Ringwood, but he certainly saw him a second time. The Mayor's that it would be possible for him, probably, to modify the letter somewhat and mitigate its plain-spoken asperity. To the possibility of this the Mayor assented, and when Colonel Rice next appeared at Ringword, after reporting the result of his mission to the glovernor, it was with the letter in hand and with the phrases and sentences which the Governor desired to have modified or omitted indicated. The Mayor went over the suggested changes and acquiesced in many of them, but not in all. The Governor was particularly anxious to have all reference to the payment of his notes out of the illegitimate profits on Section 12 refused to make. When Colonel Rice had got all of the modifications the Mayor was willing to make. of the modifications the Mayor was willing to make, the Mayor said that he would recall the first letter

The Governor, thus driven to the wall, made the recommendation, deserted all the men with whom be had previously conspired against the City of New-York, and the popularity of this pleasant summer resort. Among dominated by cowardice and fear of the consequences those present were S. C. Barnum, A. A. Bonner, A. te himself, just as he had been in Squire's case, found E. Conover, B. Wright, Charles C. Delmonico, Miss R. himself hoist by his own petard of an extra session.

Still a third letter was written by the Mayor. After the Governor had sent in his message, Mayor Hewitt wrote him again, applauding him for his courage, not only in remedying a wrong, but in recognizing fully the principle of home government by that he was the only Governor who had ever recognized this principle fully and completely and without qualification or limitation. This letter the Governor has been at liberty to make public, but he has not done so because it is said that the letter has a rider to the effect that the Governor has not yet restored to the city treasury the sums derived from Section 12, of which he was the beneficiary.

Among the Euffalo, Brooklyn and Tammany Hall politicians, who have now become pretty well acqualitied with the reasons which controlled Hill in the desertion of his friends before the investigation was completed, an act which was equivalent to adver tising them as guilty before their trial was finished, and all for the purpose of saving himself at any cost, the effect has been to produce a decidedly changed state of feeling. The belief is beginning to prevail as one prominent man said to-day, "He is pressure desert his dearest friend, and when the politicians know him as well as I do, they will have no ONE WHO KNOWS. use for him."

New-York, July 29, 1888. A reporter was sent last night, on receipt of the above letter, to see Mayor Hewitt in regard to it. The Mayor was not found. At his own house, No. 9 Lexington-ave., there was no response to long-continued ringing of the door bell, while at the house of his brother-in-law, Mr. Edward Cooper, in Washington Square, it was said that the Mayor was supposed to be out of town. The statements in the letter are so extraordinary and the source from which it comes seems so entirely trustworthy, that THE TRIBUNE hardly feels justified in delaying its publication, although it regrets extremely its inability to accompany the letter with any statement the Mayor might wish to make.-Ed.)

PUTTING THE POSTMASTERS TO WORK. To the Editor of The Tribune.

Sir: Our reform Aministration is now employing, contrary to the laws of the United States, the postmasters of this State to act as agents to collect money for a hugt corruption fund for the purchase of votes this fall. This is Civil Service Reform with a vengeance. Our postmaster here at Tivoli was around last week, and, by mistake, asked a Republican friend of mine for cash. He informed me of the fact. 60 we know now what we have to expect in this State from our reform President's agents this autumn.
Yours truly, THOMAS S. CLARKSON.

DEMOCRATS WHO DON'T WANT FREE TRADE. Tothe Editor of The Tribune.

Sir: The outlook in this vicinity at this date is highly favorable to the Republican cause. A number of Democrats declare that they will not support Cleveland, and some are bold in their denunctation of his free-trade message. The farmers on the hills say that they cannot support Cleveland and I do not know of any Republican Cleveland men here. S. Clive, a Democrat of the old school, publicly denounces Cleveland and his free trade message.

BITS OF TALK ON TIMELY TOPICS.

Ex-President Rutherford B. Hayes was in New-York a few days ago, on his way hone from the Prison Confer-ence at Boston. Since his retirement from public life he has devoted much time and attention to works of philanhas devoted much line and attention to work of pattan-thropy and duration. His attention was first drawn to the abuses in prison management while he was Governor of Ohlo, and he introduced important improvements in the prison system of the Buckers State. As ex-President Hayes strolled about in the Grand Central Station, in a legislation. A careful and exhaustive inquiry made of persons who are fully aware of all the facts has resulted in the discovery of the following extraordinary state of affairs, showing the Governor to have been actuated only by the most abject cowardice, and not by any motive of public good, in making the returned. The quiet and centented life which he leads in Fremont has been largely conductive to this condition.

An incident at Poughkeepsie, after the train left for Newletter, demanding of him that he should call the affention of the Legislature to the necessity for Aquedict legislation. This letter was couched in the strongest possible terms, and is said by those who personally know what its contents were to be something entirely unique in political literature. It reviewed the Governor's course with regard to the bill which removed the Mayor and Controller from the Board and legislated Messrs. Barnes, Fish, and Ridgway into office. It summarized and consolidated such part of the records of the Senate Committee as showed the summission of the Senate Committee as showed the summarized and consolidated such part of the records of the Senate Committee as showed the summarized and consolidated such part of the contractors, and his perdeeds of kindness. HE OUGHT TO WEAR BRISTLES

HE OUGHT TO WEAR BRISTLES.

From The Concord (N. H.) Mirror and American.

"The Boston Globe," which has been canvassing New-England to find a manufacturer who is not opposed to the Mills bill, is delighted with the opinions of a Mr. Dempsey, who, it is alleged, owns a bleachery in Lewiston, Me., and capreases himself as follows. But let us see what this gentleman wants. He is partially satisfied with the Mills bill because it gives him free raw materials without touching the tax on goods so as to affect them; but even this is not enough, for he insists that the duty on fine woollens, linens and cottons should be largely increased so as to enable our manufacturers to compete with foreigners, who now get "the cream of the trade." That man should not wear wool, cotton or linen; bristless would become him better. He's a hog, as is any other man who asks Congress to protect his business by laying a heavy duty on his goods, and at the same time have other people at the mercy of the foreigners by abolishing all duties on what they produce.

BLAINE WANTED IN BOSTON.

on The Boston Advertisor.

We hope to have a night of Blaine when he returns, From The Boston Advertisor.

"We hope to have a night of Blaine when he returns," and Chairman Burden, of the State Central Committee. From every portion of the Commonwealth there is a femant for Blaine. After his reception in New-York it is probable that he will pass through Boston on his way home. The committee will endeavor to keep him here for one night, and if successful we will show him how appreciative Massachusetts is of him.

"Here in Boston we are receiving requests from the trade unions to do our best to secure him for an evening. If it should be arranged there will probably be a street parade, and we have assurances from labor organizations and from others that they will participate."

"Blaine is going to the front in this campaign, and his influence will be felt, and we want to see him in Boston once at least," said Secretary Southworth. "Mechanics" Hall, in the event of his coming, would be engaged, and I tell you that the people of Massachusetts would see a political raily that never had its equal."

DOING MORE GOOD THAN EVER BEFORE

NINE HUNDRED POOR CHILDREN TO BE TRANS-

FERRED THIS WEEK TO COUNTRY HOMES. The magnitude of the work done by The Tribune Fresh-Air department last week was a subject of comment not only by the city press, but among the journals of the whole country, several of the latter, to incite interest in the rural communities, transferring in full to their own columns The Tribune's report of the work, published last Monday. The doings to-day and to-morrow, however, will eclipse by onehalf the enterprise of last week, and will surpass every previous effort in the whole twelve years at Fresh-Air work. Thirty parties will leave the city in these two days with 900 children aboard; the homes of between 700 and 800 hosts will receive them, in fifty odd towns, scattered through the seven Vermont, New-Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New-York, New-Jersey and Pennsylvania. A dozen other parties are dated for the remaining days of the week, and when these get away the grand total sent te the country thus far this summer will be about 5,500 children, and the work will proceed with

The City Mission workers who selected the children for these thirty parties have shown preference to the delicate and sickly, and have aimed to choose the little ones who are in direst need of the two weeks' outing. There are 900 little lives, and there are 900 little stories connected therewith, if they could only be told stories full of pathos, of neglect, despair, hunger, hope, against fate. One poor little fellow's father is a stone mason, by trade, but leads the life of a vagabond, drinks heavily, and never gives his family peace; the mother takes in washing and is janitor of a mission chapel. The child has a hovel for a home, and has been eight months in the hospital on account of lack of proper nourishment, so the doctor says. Another typical case is that of a little girl whose family are wretchedly poor. The father is shiftless and the mother tries to support the family by finishing pantaloons at five cents a pair. They live in two dark rooms, and the children have never been outside the city limits.

And so on, without number, cases just as forlorn and unfortunate might be cited, but kind, hospitable country folk are anxiously awaiting the coming of their wee guests.

ANTI-FREE-TRADE CLUBS ORGANIZED IN MANY DISTRICTS-MASS-MEETING TO-NIGHT.

P. H. McNamee presided last evening at a meeting of the Irish-American Anti-Free-Trade League, at No. 141 East Eighth-st. This is the new headquarters of the organization, and was handsomely fitted up and lecorated last night. Reports were heard from seventeen delegates representing organized clubs in as many Assembly districts. Many of these clubs held public meetings during the week, and in all of the districts the organizers are making strenuous efforts to increase the membership, so that a good contingen will be ready to march in the big parade in honor of the arrival of James G. Blaine. A large and costly banner has been purchased, and it has been decided to keep it cone aled until the day of the arrival of the Plumed Kuight, when it will be flung to the Ex-Judge A. L. Morrison, who has just returned from Connecticut and Vermont, where he was making speeches in behalf of protection, stated that the printed address which had been drawn up by the League, and distributed in the city some had been spread broadcast throughout these two States especially, with the result that Irish-Americans in many of the towns had already banded themselves together and formed anti-free-trade clubs. pose," he said, "to hurt the Democratic party not alone in these, but in all the doubtful States."

plause.) Colonel John Farrell, who was introduced by the chairman as a new recruit, and as a man of influence among Irishmen, not alone in the XVIIth Assembly District, where he lives, but throughout the city, was among Irishmen, not alone in the XVIIIA Assembly District, where he lives, but throughout the city, was welcomed with applause. He said he had to keep aloof from many of his countrymen, although a citizen of New-York for forty years, "because I found," said he, "that, unfortunately, a great many Irishmen were professional politicians. That no such charge can be made against this body is proved by the fact that I am here, and will be with you heart and soul until Harrison and Morton are elected on November 6. (Applause.) I am glad to see that your pairtotic efforts are being backed by many of the officers and men of the gallant 60th, who are fighting a grander battle now than even that at Fredericksburg, for then they were fighting Americans, whatever else may be said, while in fighting free trade they are doing battle against England and English intrigue. (Applause.) Let us preach the gospel of Protection to American Industries, in season and out of season, and when the time to vote comes we will give Johnny Bull such a fit of illness that he will have to send to this country if he wants to get a medical man that can cure him." (Applause and laughter.)

Several Fundsome designs for League campaign buttons were submitted to the Executive Committee. One was approved, and an order given for several thousands. A mass-meeting to ratify the Republican nominations will be held this evening in the same place, and addresses delivered by James P. Foster, president of the National Republican League, General Cyrus Bussey, ex-Judge A. L. Morrison and J. M. Wall.

HENRY VILLARD BACK FROM EUROPE. Henry Villard returned from his trip to Europe a Saturday. A reporter called yesterday at his home at Dobbs Ferry, but he did pleasant summer not care to say anything for publication. He was feeling somewhat fatigued after his voyage. Mrs. Villard said that he was in excellent health and spirits. He will remain at Dobbs Ferry until he is thoroughly rested, but expects to be at his office by the middle of the week.

AN UNANSWERED INDICTMENT.

"REFORMER" CLEVELAND FOOLS NOBODY. HIS FRIENDS PARALYZED BY THE TRIBUNE'S STARTLING EXPOSURE

From The Buffalo Express.

The New-York Tribune's twenty-four-column exposure of the Civil Service abuses of the Cieveland Administration has been issued as Tribune Extra No. 100. Its charges-fortified as they are by explicit proofs in the form of names, dates and references—are accepted everywhere by the Republican press as a most complete and destructive attack on the alleged Reform policy of President Cleveland. This acceptance by the Republican press was of course to have been expected, even had the charges been far less severe and far less ably supported. In a partisan campaign the partisan press accepts whatever comes to its net.

But the action of the Democratic press affords a campaign the partisan press accepts whatever comes to its not.

But the action of the Democratic press affords a better clew, for it is not the natural action of a better clew, for it is not the natural action of a partisan press under such circumstances. The natural course for the Democratic press would be to meet. The Tribune's exposure by denials and endeavors to disprove the charges set forth. But there are no such endeavors. The Democratic organs seem to be paralyzed by the blow. They are either dumb, or so feeble and unsupported in their denials that they might better be dumb. If there are any answers to be made to The Tribune's long and disastrous array of the Administration's misdoings, the organs do not know what those answers are. And so the charge—which are enough to sink half a dozen candidates—are being allowed to stand unanswered.

N. Administration which is without answer to such a crushing indictment as The Tribune's can receive the indorsement of the American people.

THE RASCALS WHO WERE TURNED IN. From The Leavenworth Times.

From The Leavenworth Times.

The New-York Tribune of Monday contained four pages of the biographies of the 137 criminals (and other objectionable characters) whom President Cleveland has appointed to office. The name, career, crime and all the particulars of each of this band of Cleveland worthies is given at length. Many of the appointments were made with the knowledge of the character of the appointees. These four pages will make elegant campaign reading for those persons who, four years ago, were shouting: "Turn the rascals out."

AN ELABORATE ROGUES' GALLERY. From The Chambersburg (Penn.) Franklin Repository.

The New-York Tribune of Monday, July 23, contained an article which has caused the greatest excitement in political circles, and which is regarded as one of the most remarkable newspaper publications ever made in this country. It consists of a twenty-four column review of Cleveland's record as a professed reformer, and shows how his path is strewn with broken and disregarded piedges. It proves that instead of being a Civil Service reformer, he is really the greatest spoilsman who ever sat in the Presidential chair, that he has been false and hypocritical in his every profession. It shows that Cleveland has appointed hundreds of criminals to office, with full knowledge of their vile deeds, and that he has taken particular trouble to reward any man who had been notoriously treasonable and foul in his denunciations of the Union cause and its generals. The work of compiling this great article undoubtedly cost a great deal of time, money and labor. No Democratic paper in the country has attempted to answer it, but all must confess that the charges are true. It is bound to be a great feature From The Chambersburg (Penn.) Franklin Repository.

charges are true. It is bound to be a great feature of the coming campaign, and the thanks of every good Republican in the country are due The Tribune for this magnificent expose of Cleveland, the hypo-GIDDY WHIRL OF THE MUGWUMPS. GIDDY WHIRL OF THE MUGWUMPS.

If The New-York Tribune's exposure of Grover Cleveland's eccentricities as a Civil Service reformer does not draw upon his head the sharp reproaches of the Mugwumps, that is not because they think the arraignment false or its specifications of no account, but because the Mugwump files of 1884 prove him to be a reformer, while the Mugwump issues of 1886 prove him not to be a reformer, and they are dizzy with the whirl-about he has given them. They have seen the Great Cleveland Reform circus; and their brains ache.

brains ache. DISCOVERING SAWDUST IN THE DOLL.

From The Boston Advertiser.

The twenty-four columns devoted by The New-York Tribune to a review of the conduct of the public service under President Cleveland and his exercise of the appointing and removing power present an extraordinary record of public offices converted into party spoils and public trusts confided to criminals. It is based on evidence of which more than three-fourths is derived from papers now supporting Mr. Cleveland for re-election, and the authority and date are given for each specification.

That there exists no doubt as to the motive of these charges is attested by the melancholy admission of "The New-York Evening Post" of May 2s of the present year: From The Boston Advertiser.

"The New York Evening Post of May 25 of the present year:

"The painful truth is that we doubt if a single independent voter in this State, of the thousands who supported President Clevland in 1884, any longer attaches any importance to the utterances of the members of the Administration on the subject of Civil Service reform, or any longer refuses to believe that the President's promises and professions have been violated or disregarded on a great scale, with the utmost boldness, in sundry places and in divers manners."

A STARTLING AND SHAMEFUL REVELATION. From The Syracuse Journal.

In a four-page article, The New-York Tribune shows by startling facts how President Cleveland has failed as a civil service reformer and the shamelessness of his broken pledges and the entrusting of confidence to crim-

FAR MORE READABLE THAN CLEVELAND'S TALK. rom The Portland (Me.) Express.

By a curious coincidence, while the Presi By a curious coincidence, while the President was preparing this document somebody in the office of The New-York Tribune was gathering from the records the materials for a "message" illustrating civil service reform as operated by Grover Cleveland. This message, like the President's, appeared resterday, and with time respect to our Chief Executive, we must say that, so far as statistics are concerned, it leaves his way out of sight.

Perhaps The Tribune's message on the civil service reform of this Administration may serve to explain why, in the words of Mr. Cleveland's message, "its importance has frequently been underestimated."

A REGULAR "SOCKDOLAGER."

From The Wilkesbarre Record. The Tribune's black list was a corker. It showed up Cleveland's "civil service record" and contained a biographical sketch of his worst appointments. Special mention was made of Lamar, Vilas and Garland. It was a frightful expose of Cleveland's hypocrisy and should be placed within the reach of every voter.

HARDLY READY FOR A SECOND ROUND.

From The Portland (Me.) Express.

The New-York Tribune's exposition of the Administration's Civil Service reform record was a knockdown blow, and Mr. Cleveland's defenders and apologists do not seem to be in a hurry to get up.
